

Need an interesting booth or guest speaker at your upcoming career day or science fair? Look no further! We can bring our knowledgeable education staff to talk about how they got into the field while showing off some of our 4 legged friends. If you are looking for a booth where students can interact with us, we have a professional set up with real artifacts from our safari and of course some of our scaly critters. We are flexible with what you need so please let us help make your event a little wilder.

Preparing for your event

- Arrival time will be 15-30 minutes prior to program start time. This will allow the Safari Staff time to set up.
- We come with cleaning supplies, hand sanitizer, food and water for the animals, a folding table, a perch that rolls, artifacts, an 8'x8' display, an 8'x 3' vertical banner and 3-4 safari programs team members.
- There will be a lot of animals and items to unload, we do have a hand truck. A preferable entrance would be an area that has no stairs or has a ramp.
- We ask that teachers assist with any rules or directions that are given by the Safari Programs staff.
- If we bring animals they will need to be kept in a behind the scenes area.
- It will take 15-30 minutes after the program ends for break down and packing up.
- A safari program team member will remain with the animals at all times, this would include a lunch break when staying for several hours

FAQ's

Do you bring animals?

We can bring a couple if you would like. We have a wide variety of snakes, lizards, parrots, birds of prey and small exotic mammals. Just like people, animals have their own personalities. The animals we bring will vary based on availability and behavior and what was agreed upon when booking.

Are there animals that the participants can touch?

New Jersey is a no touch state, and only permits trained professionals to touch most of exotic animals. Some lizards and snakes can be touched by participants as directed by our educators.
